1. [] called this afternoon to find out when we would like to pick up the power supply and when it would be returned to them. He had been trying to get in touch with [] who is in Boston, and [] who is in Florida. 25X1A

2. In response to a question from me on the amount of lead time they would need to make the power supply available, [] said that after the end of this week about two or three days should be sufficient. 25X1A

3. [] noted that the manufacturer will be on vacation, he believes, the last week of July and the first week of August. 25X1A

4. [] anticipates having the transportation manual available by the end of this week or early next week. He will personally inspect it tomorrow. 25X1A

5. I called [] and determined that we presently plan to pick up the power supply on 16 August, return the power supply to [] about 25 August, and then pick the supply up again on 5 September. I called [] and informed him of these dates; they seem to be satisfactory to him.
